

Questions for the New Pastor:

What is your favorite dessert?

How has God humbled you?

What are your personal disciplines for spending time in the Word and in prayer?

What is your style of leadership with the laity and staff?

What is the dumbest thing someone has ever said to you?

Who are your favorite authors and books?

What is the greatest need of the North American church?

What is your most embarrassing moment while serving in ministry?

Are you a collector of any kind?

Questions for the New Church:

What has been the most imaginative thing that the church has done in the past year?

How does the church talk about money?

Where in the church do you see the most life and energy and where has the church become a little stuck or calcified?

On a scale 1-10, with 10 being REALLY WELL, how does the church deal with change?

How would you describe the congregation's connection to the community: local, global, denominational, etc. in service, support and/or presence?

In 5-10 years how do you want people in the community to describe this congregation?

How does this congregation care for and nurture its pastoral staff?