

Have You Ever?

This activity is a great way to get to know some different things about the folks on your team.

- Get the group in a circle
- Have a place holder for each person (We used my brightly colored dots, but you could also use an "X" of tape on the floor, a carper square, a sticker, whatever. Paper plates work well but they are a major safety hazard because they slide on the floor. If you use them, tape them down)
- Explain the object of the activity (not "game") is for the person in the middle to take another person's spot somewhere in the circle
- The person in the middle calls out a "have you ever" (gotten a traffic ticket, eaten sushi, gotten anything stuck up your nose)
- Whoever the "have you ever" applies to must move from their place marker to another one in the circle while the person in the middle occupies a now vacant spot
- The person without a spot not has to come up with their own "have you ever"
- Remember that for safety this is a non-running activity
- Remember that this is a family show and keep the "have you ever's" clean)
- If two people tie on a spot the person with the shortest thumb wins
- Keep the energy high and do not let the activity go on too long

Have you ever had a poem or a song written about you?

Have you ever re-gifted?

Have you ever been on TV?

Have you ever gone spelunking?

Have you ever met a celebrity?

Have you ever seen a tornado?

Have you ever fainted?

Have you ever had a part in a movie?

Have you ever been inside a police car?

Have you ever had to dial 911?

Have you ever won a prize?

Have you ever hitchhiked?

Have you ever milked a cow?

Have you ever experienced a miracle?
