

Financial Controls, Policies and Procedures
Annual Review and Renewal Document

_____ United Methodist Church of
_____, Florida

When approaching the subject of money within the context of a church, the operative word is “integrity.” The Bible is quite clear on the need to be honest and forthright in financial matters. There is also the potential of the church’s testimony to an unbelieving world. The way a church handles its finances can present positive or negative witness to those outside the church. Does the church care for its people the way it cares for its money? Are the leaders sloppy, not concerned with details, or downright unconcerned? Therefore, be intentional in selecting good, qualified people to be the caretakers of the funds and good people need the right policies and procedures, so please review these policies and procedures annually and watch for any updates to these policies and procedures sent out from the Conference Financial Services Department.

The original financial controls, policies, and procedures policy was adopted by the _____ United Methodist Church on _____ and is on file in our church office and the District Office.
